

Child safety isn't a checkbox. We're looking for partners who feel the same.

PPE Kids partners with churches, schools, daycares and youth organizations that are ready to be open about how they protect children, and to be held to a standard worth showing parents.

This isn't for everyone, and that's the point. Real protection asks for openness: about who works with children, how adults are trained, and what happens when something goes wrong. Many organizations aren't ready for that yet, and we meet them with respect. For the ones who are, this partnership is a way to prove it.

This partnership is for organizations that...

- Are willing to be transparent with parents, boards and donors
- Welcome independent accountability, not just a once-a-year audit
- Treat child safety as culture, not paperwork
- Will commit to a 12-month process, because safety is a year-round practice
- Want a standard they can stand behind in front of families

What partners receive

- Screening & Vetting: workforce analytics and behavioral risk checks that go beyond a background check
- Training & Governance: our Behind the Smile™ curriculum, built to help every adult recognize and interrupt grooming
- Policy Infrastructure: clear bright-line rules with no grey zones
- Accountability & Oversight: protection that holds up all year, in hallways, breakrooms and group chats

A standard we hold ourselves to first

We don't ask partners for anything we aren't willing to show. Our approach is built from the leading child safety standards of the U.S., U.K. and Australia, and from more than 20 years of strategic HR and operational leadership.
